CAPT. JAMES'S PLANE IS BELIEVED FOUND

Machine of Aviator Missing a Year May Be in Hudson, Near Poughkeepsie.

FISHERMEN MAKE FIND

Discover Huge Object 20 Feet Below Surface but Unable to Raise It.

Special Despatch to The New York Herald Poughkeepsie, June 21.—Irving Bayliss and James Simpson, fishermen, discovered a huge object to-day about twenty feet below the surface of the on River at Krom Elbow, which they believe may be the airplane flown by Capt, Mansell R. James, a Canadian by Capt. Mansell R. James, a Canadian aviator, who has been missing since May 29, 1919, when he left Lee, Mass., to continue a flight which he was making from the Berkshires to Atlantic City by way of Minecla.

Simpson said this afternoon that he and Bayilss were not able to get the object out of the water, nor were they able to bring it near enough to the surface to see it, but they feel sure that it is an airplane because their nets were caught in something which turned and pulled exactly like a propeller. They base their belief that it might be the machine flown by Capt. James on the fact that about the time the Canadian was making his flight Williard Everitt and Harry Eiliott of Poughkeepsie saw an airplane drop into the river at Blue Point, about three miles below this city.

Simpson and Bayilss said that the object in the water appeared to be tilted at an angle of about forty-five degrees and that apparently it has washed to Krom Eibow in recent months, as they have even fighing over that territory for sevthat apparently it has washed to Krom Elbow in recent months, as they have been fishing over that territory for several years and never noticed it before. They tried to obtain the help of scows in raising it, but could not. They hope to get the service of a diver within a day or two and if possible bring the object to the surface. Both of the fishermen are confident that it is the Canadian's circlars and that they will find dian's airplane and that they will fine the body of Capt. James strapped in the seat.

So far the disappearance of Capt.
James has been one of the unexplained mysteries of the air. Both the American and Canadian Covernments organiz and Canadian devertinents organized airplane and grown is a searching expeditions and thous ds of Boy Scouts combed the territory over which he was expected to fly in his trip, but no trace has ever been found either of the plane or of the valator. Reports were received that he had been seen over a number of the force towns even towns a long the unpur Hudson.

that he had been seen over a number of different towns along the upper Hudson. but the only definite report of a plane in that district was that of the two men who saw a machine plunge into the river. The men did not report what they had seen for some days, and by that time it was considered useless to drag the river at that point. If the object found by Bayliss and Simpson is really the plane, it could easily have been washed from Biue Point to that point in more than two years. more than two years.

Shows Scars and Says She Fired to Save Own Life.

Special Desputch to The New York Herald.
Chicago, June 21.—Mrs. Cora Orthwein took the witness stand to-day in her own defence and began the recital of events that led up to the killing by her of Herbert Ziegler.
She illustrated how Ziegler had beaten her time after time. Pacing before the jury, she showed a white scar on her upper lip, inflicted by Ziegler. She also related how she met Ziegler, fell in love with him and gave her entire fortune to ith him and gave her entire fortune to

The defendant then told of the events in her apartment that led to the shoot-ing of Ziegler.
"He tried to break down my door

when I wouldn't let him in," she said.
"He was crazy drunk. I was afraid he would kill me. When I saw him coming I shot. It was in self-defence."
